Budget Proposal Holds Line On Public Works Spending

by Diane Oberg

City Manager Josué Salmerón's budget proposal calls for a 2.7 percent increase in the Public Works budget, with expenditures increasing from $4.586 million in the adopted budget for this fiscal year to $4.711 million in FY25, which begins on July 1. A breakout of expenditures by major budget category is shown in the table on page 12.

The Public Works Department has a wide range of responsibilities including maintenance of all city buildings and grounds, waste collection and recycling, sustainability, the Greenbelt Connection and maintaining 26 miles of city streets and 532 acres of city parks.

Staffing will decrease by one as the supervisor positions for parks and playgrounds and for horticulture will be merged into one position.

Assistant City Manager Timothy George and public works management met with the Greenbelt City Council on April 17 to review this budget. Salmerón was ill and did not attend.

Some department activities such as the Greenbelt Connection (budgeted under "Miscellaneous"), the Greenbelt Cemetery ("Other Funds") and certain maintenance activities are reflected in other budget categories. (For example, maintenance of the Municipal Building is covered in the General Governments budget.)

Revenues

Some activities generate revenue to wholly or partially offset costs. Waste collection and recycling fees, the landfill disposal rebate and sale of recyclable materials are expected to bring in $748,900, unchanged from the current budget. The sustainability and recycling area has garnered $384,770 in grants for specific projects. An additional $300,000 grant was recently received.

Challenges

Acting Public Works Director Brian Kim said the department faces three challenges. The first is ailing infrastructure. A significant portion of the budget is devoted to maintaining and upgrading infrastructure and equipment. "As these assets continue to deteriorate," he wrote, "the demands for maintenance and upgrades will only escalate," further straining

14- and 16-Year-Old Arrested For Schrom Hills Shootings

by Melissa Sites

At a press conference at Schrom Hills Park on Monday, April 29, Greenbelt Chief of Police Richard Bowers announced the arrest of two teenaged suspects in connection with the shooting of five young people that occurred there on April 19, during an unsanctioned Senior Skip Day gathering that drew a flash mob of around 500 people to the park (see the April 25 issue).

The suspects, aged 14 and 16, are from Bowie and District Heights. Both attend Bowie High School. As juveniles, their names cannot be released at this time. Aisha

The new bell times for PGCPS schools were announced April 25.

On Saturday, April 27, the Prince George's County Public Schools (PGCPS) administration held an information session at Eleanor Roosevelt High School about transportation changes coming this fall. Although this was the seventh of nine meetings scheduled, it was the first to be held after the new times were announced.

The changes are part of Superintendent Millard House II's introduction to the district, acknowledging long-standing issues with the transportation system, such as long bus routes, delays, driver shortages and safety concerns.

"Our focus is clear: To provide students with safe and punctual transportation," said Dr. Charoscar Coleman, chief operating officer for PGCPS.

Coleman discussed five priorities for Phase 1, the 2024-2025 school year: bell time shifts, relocation of bus stops, reassessment of bus stops within walk zones, codification of an opt-out program for students who do not need bus transportation and timely information on bus schedules, route changes and locations for community members with students.

Election

Circuit Court Judges: A Primer

by Kit Slack, Streetcar Suburbs Publishing

In the primary election May 14, voters will decide which four out of five candidates will be judges for Maryland's Circuit Court for Prince George's County.

Circuit court in Maryland is the trial court for major civil cases and serious criminal cases, along with those involving juveniles and family court disputes. Judges on the ballot will serve as four of the 23 full-time circuit court judges in the county.

How do circuit court judges get their jobs?

Initially, Maryland's governor typically appoints judges. To be eligible for appointment, nominees must be U.S. citizens, registered voters and Maryland lawyers at least 30 years of age. They have to have lived in the state for at least five years and in the county for at least six months.

The governor appoints candidates from lists created by local nominating commissions, which Maryland governors have set up for this purpose in various forms since 1970.

Next, after they are appointed and working, circuit court judges must stand for election; interested candidates may file to run against them, without being nominated, if they meet the basic qualifications. Winners of the election serve 15-year terms as judges. They may serve more terms following the same selection process but must retire by age 70.

Are judicial elections a good idea?

According to reporting by Maryland Matters, since 2002, more than a dozen judges have lost contested elections across the state. For the 30 years prior to that, judicial elections were rarely contested.

An effort to do away with contested judicial elections may lead to a constitutional amendment revising the judicial selection process coming before voters as soon as 2026.

Those who support judicial elections say elections build public trust in the courts and are a check on the governor's power and a not-very-transparent process. Those who oppose judicial elections say fewer qualified candidates will want the jobs if they have to campaign for them, and that campaign contributions could compromise impartiality.

Which judges run for office?

Only circuit court judges, who are the trial judges for larger disputes, run for office.

All other Maryland judges have their appointments confirmed by the Maryland Senate. They don't run in contested elections. The Senate confirms the appointment of

The Old Oak

The Old Oak is the last pub standing in a once thriving mining village in northern England, a gathering space for a community that has fallen on hard times. There is growing anger, resentment and a lack of hope among the residents, but the pub and its proprietor TJ are a fond presence to their customers. When a group of Syrian refugees move into the floundering village, a decisive rift fueled by prejudices develops between the community and its newest inhabitants. The formation of an unexpected friendship between TJ and a young Syrian woman named Yara opens up new possibilities for the divided village in this deeply moving drama about loss, fear and the difficulty of finding hope. Legendary British Director Ken Loach, 87 years old, has announced that The Old Oak will be his final film.

Challengers

From visionary filmmaker Luca Guadagnino, the film stars Zendaya as Tashi Duncan, a former tennis prodigy turned coach and a force of nature who makes no apologies for her game on and off the court. Married to a champion on a losing streak (Mike Faist, West Side Story), Tashi's strategy for her husband's redemption takes a surprising turn when he must face off against the washed-up Patrick (Josh O'Connor, The Crown) – his former best friend and Tashi's former boyfriend. As their pasts and presents collide, and tensions run high, Tashi must ask herself, what will it cost to win?

The Lost World

In London, professor Challenger (Wallace Beery) announces that prehistoric creatures are alive and flourishing in the Amazon jungle and declares his intention to mount an expedition proving his point. Journalist Edward Malone (Lloyd Hughes) volunteers to go and convinces his newspaper to fund the journey. Paula White (Bessie Love) hopes to find her father, a missing explorer. They and others undertake the voyage and witness dinosaurs and humanoids doing battle in a magnificent landscape.

To Sir, With Love

American Mark Thackeray (Sidney Poitier) has recently received his degree in engineering, but cannot find work. To make ends meet, he takes a job as a teacher in a rough London East End school populated mostly with troublemakers who were rejected from other schools for their behavior. While the students at first see Thackeray as just another teacher open for ridicule and bullying, his calm demeanor and desire to see them succeed gradually earn him their respect.

Danielle Towers' photojournalism thesis on the City of Greenbelt is now on display at the Corcoran School of Art in Washington, D.C. Towers is a graduating photojournalism student at George Washington University who chose Greenbelt as her focus. Over the last year she photographed numerous Greenbelt community events and residents, working as a photographer for the News Review on election night and other special occasions.

Some of the questions she pursued were: What are the implications of community design on the way we live? What does design say about our values? How is that reflected through the lives of the people who live in Greenbelt? "We need to be thinking about what types of communities we want to hope for, to dream for," says Towers.

You can visit Danielle's photography of Greenbelt, which is part of the Next Festival, on display at the Corcoran School April 17 to May 16, Wednesday to Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m. at 500 17th Street NW.

GARF Concludes Donation Drive with Free Documentary

by Nancy Newton

The count begins. GARF (Greenbelt Alliance for Reproductive Freedom), a city recognition group, is wrapping up its third donation drive for bras and menstrual products. Sorting and counting the donations before the next step: delivering them to the nonprofits I Support the Girls and the Greater DC Diaper bank. These organizations in turn distribute the products to more than 75 agencies serving vulnerable and low-income populations, including Greenbelt’s Pink Pantry Project. In each of the previous drives (2021 and 2023) Greenbelters generously gave more than 10,000 menstrual products, and GARF expects a similar number this year.

Although 10,000 is quite a bounty – enough to fill a minivan – it’s also the average number of menstrual products an individual uses over a lifetime, according to the National Institutes of Health. The estimated lifetime costs of these products range from $9,000 to $18,000, presenting a considerable economic hardship for many.

However, as public health experts point out, menstruation is more than a bodily process, and good menstrual health requires more than the ability to obtain menstrual products. Culture, religion, education, politics, business and more affect the way individuals experience the menstrual cycle. For this reason, GARF, together with Planned Parenthood of Metropolitan Washington, will sponsor a showing of the feature documentary Periodical. The Canadian documentary magazine POV describes the film as “a scientific and sociological look at all things periods, from puberty to menopause and everything that happens during the 40-plus years in between.” This event celebrating the culmination of GARF’s product donation drive is open to the public and will be held Friday, May 3 at 7 p.m. in Room 202 of the Community Center. Admission is free, but donations of period products and bras are welcome. Planned Parenthood will facilitate a discussion following the film.

The co-founders of GARF explained the mission and vision of their group: “As an organization concerned with a broad range of issues related to reproductive health, we want to go beyond helping people get access to period products. There’s still a lot of stigma, shame and misinformation surrounding menstruation, and there’s more we can do to normalize discussion around this topic and ensure that people who menstruate can experience it with comfort and dignity ... We hope both men and women will see this important film and consider it as a starting point for more frank conversations about something so common that it happens to almost half the people in the world.”

Congratulations to Dora Kennedy French Immersion and Greenbelt Middle School math teams who won gold, silver and bronze medals in the recent PGCPS’ Annual Math Meet, held on April 27 at Walker Mill Middle school in Capitol Heights.

Happy birthday to Greenbelt News Review member and writer, Dr. Lois Rosado, who will turn 80 this month!

Happy birthday, also, to John Henry Jones who will turn 96 on May 6. He would welcome friends and neighbors who would like to stop by.

Congratulations to Greenbelt resident Stan Zirkin for having saved a life at the Fort Totten Metro Station. On April 13, as he was waiting for a train, a fellow passenger jumped onto the tracks to retrieve his hat, which had been blown off by the wind. Unfortunately, the climb back up to the platform was steep and the passenger could not get up. Stan noted his distress and immediately reached out his hand to help him up. It should be noted that Stan is 79 years old and not tall. The rescue was successful. Less than one minute later a train came roaring down the track where the passenger had been trapped.

Life-Threatening Dangers of Radon: Awareness, Detection, Mitigation

by Steven Mirsky

High levels of radon have been found in some homes in Maryland and specifically in Prince George's County. Long-term exposure to high concentrations of this radioactive gas in the home can cause lung cancer, but it can be easily detected. If measured above acceptable levels, effective permanent mitigation is accomplished with a relatively simple system.

Radon is a colorless, odorless and tasteless radioactive gas that is emitted as a decay product from deposits of underground uranium. Uranium is a naturally occurring element that has existed as long as the Earth. Radon was first discovered by scientists in 1900 but was not identified as a danger until 1984 when a worker at a nuclear power plant under construction in Pennsylvania set off a radiation detector even though there was nothing radioactive at the plant. The EPA identifies radon as a carcinogen responsible for about 21,000 lung cancer deaths each year, which is more than for second-hand smoke.

Although colorless and odorless, radon can be detected by easily obtained devices: radon detectors, radon monitors or radon alarms. A one-time-use disposable mail-in radon detector test kit costs less than $20. Alternatively, an electronic digital continuous radon monitor can be purchased for between $100 and $200 from online retailers or large electronics or hardware stores.

If the radon level in a home is below the EPA limit of 4 picocuries per liter, there is no recommended action. If it exceeds the limit, then a radon mitigation system should be installed. Although it sounds fancy, these systems are simply a vertical pipe of PVC or other material that is embedded through the floor of the basement or slab at the bottom of the home, routed up through the roof to the outside and equipped with a constantly running small blower fan inside the pipe. This system continuously draws air from below the home where the radon is being generated and exhausts it outside. The resulting lower pressure underground keeps the radon from entering the home and instead routes it to the atmosphere, where it would normally end up if the home were not there. After installation and operation, a follow-up radon measurement will show that the concentration has dropped below the EPA limit.

Steve Mirsky is a nuclear engineer with advanced knowledge of radon and carbon monoxide.

Notice of Availability of Draft Environmental Assessment

Environmental Assessment for the Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) Traffic and Utilities Mitigation Prince George's County, Maryland

All Interested Parties: The Bureau of Engraving and Printing (BEP) has prepared a draft Environmental Assessment (EA) pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 United States Code Section 4321 et seq.), herein after known as NEPA, and the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) regulations that implement NEPA (Title 40 Code of Federal Regulations [CFR], Parts 1500 to 1508). NEPA requires that federal agencies consider the potential environmental consequences of proposed and alternative federal actions in their decision-making process.

The Proposed Action consists of traffic and utilities mitigation activities associated with the construction of a replacement currency production facility (CPF) at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center (BARC). The construction and operation of the replacement CPF was addressed in the Final Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the Construction and Operation of a CPF in the National Capital Region, and the signed Record of Decision was dated 8 October 2021. The Proposed Action for this supplemental EA includes various improvements to the roadways and seven (7) intersections identified in the EIS as requiring mitigation in order to minimize delays and reduce queue lengths. It also includes utility infrastructure improvements required to accommodate the replacement CPF and additional improvements for the CPF that are outside of the limits of disturbance identified in the EIS. This EA will evaluate the environmental consequences, or lack thereof, that may occur as a result of the Proposed Action and will be prepared in accordance with the NEPA.

The draft EA is available for review and comment for 30 days from publication of this notice. The document can be viewed on the BEP Replacement CPF project website at: <https://www.nab.usace.army.mil/BEP/>. Hard copies of the document can be reviewed at the Prince George's County Public Library, Beltsville Branch and Greenbelt Branch, as well as the Vansville Community Center, during open hours throughout the 30-day public comment period. Interested parties are invited to submit written comments for consideration within 30 days from publication of this notice to: ATTN: BEP EA, US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), Baltimore District Planning Division, 2 Hopkins Plaza, 10th Floor, Baltimore, MD 21201; or send via e-mail to: BEP-Updates@usace.army.mil.

On May 13, 2024, BEP will host an in-person public meeting regarding the Draft EA, and invites your participation. The public meeting is scheduled from 6:00 pm – 8:00 pm and will be located at the Log Lodge on BARC at 302 Log Lodge Rd, Beltsville, MD 20705. Verbal or written comments on the draft EA will be accepted during the public meeting.

Requests for a printed or electronic copy of the Draft EA should also be sent to the email or postal address provided above. In the event the public meeting needs to be postponed, a message will be posted on the BEP Replacement CPF project website above, and the meeting will instead be held on May 14, 2024 from 6:00pm – 8:00pm at the Log Lodge.

Aviso de disponibilidad del proyecto de evaluación ambiental

Evaluación medioambiental para la mitigación del tráfico y los servicios públicos de la Oficina de Grabado e Impresión del condado de Prince George, Maryland

A todas las partes interesadas: La Oficina de Grabado e Impresión (BEP, por sus siglas en inglés) ha preparado un proyecto de evaluación ambiental (EA) de conformidad con la Ley de política ambiental nacional de 1969 (sección 4321 y concordantes del título 42 del Código de los Estados Unidos), en adelante denominada NEPA, y los reglamentos del Consejo de Calidad Ambiental (CEQ, por sus siglas en inglés) que regulan la NEPA (partes 1500 a 1508 del título 40 del Código de Regulaciones Federales). La NEPA exige que las agencias federales consideren las posibles consecuencias ambientales de las iniciativas federales propuestas y alternativas en su proceso de toma de decisiones.

La iniciativa propuesta comprende actividades de mitigación del tráfico y los servicios públicos asociadas a la construcción de una instalación de producción de moneda (CPF, por sus siglas en inglés) de reemplazo en el Centro de Investigación Agrícola de Beltsville (BARC, por sus siglas en inglés). La construcción y operación de la CPF de reemplazo se abordó en la declaración de impacto ambiental (EIS, por sus siglas en inglés) definitiva para la construcción y operación de una CPF en la región de la capital nacional, y el acta de decisiones firmada tenía fecha 8 de octubre de 2021. La acción propuesta para esta EA complementaria incluye varias mejoras a las carreteras y siete (7) intersecciones que, según la EIS, requieren mitigación para minimizar las demoras y reducir la longitud de las colas. También incluye mejoras en la infraestructura de servicios públicos necesarias para colocar la CPF de reemplazo y realizar mejoras adicionales para la CPF que están fuera de los límites de perturbación identificados en la EIS. En esta EA se evaluará la presencia o ausencia de las consecuencias ambientales que podrían producirse a raíz de la iniciativa propuesta. La EA se preparará de acuerdo con la NEPA.

El proyecto de EA está disponible para revisión y comentarios durante 30 días a partir de la publicación de este aviso. El documento se puede consultar en el sitio web del proyecto CPF de reemplazo de la BEP: <https://www.nab.usace.army.mil/BEP/>. Se puede consultar la versión impresa del documento en la Biblioteca Pública del condado de Prince George, en las sucursales de Beltsville y Greenbelt, así como en el Centro Comunitario de Vansville, en horario de atención al público durante los 30 días del período de comentarios públicos. Se invita a las partes interesadas a presentar observaciones por escrito para su consideración en un plazo de 30 días a partir de la publicación de este anuncio. Podrá dirigirlas a la siguiente dirección: ATENCIÓN: BEP EA, US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), Baltimore District Planning Division, 2 Hopkins Plaza, 10th Floor, Baltimore, MD 21201; o se pueden enviar por correo electrónico a BEP-Updates@usace.army.mil.

El 13 de mayo de 2024, la BEP organizará una reunión pública presencial para abordar el proyecto de EA. Se los invita a participar. La reunión pública se realizará de 6:00 p.m. a 8:00 p.m. en la cabaña [Log Lodge] del BARC en 302 Log Lodge Rd, Beltsville, MD 20705. Durante la reunión pública se aceptarán comentarios verbales o por escrito sobre el proyecto de EA.

Las solicitudes de una copia impresa o electrónica del proyecto de EA también deben enviarse a la dirección postal o de correo electrónico proporcionada anteriormente. En caso de que sea necesario posponer la reunión pública, se publicará un mensaje en el sitio web del proyecto de CPF de reemplazo de la BEP mencionado anteriormente y la reunión se llevará a cabo el 14 de mayo de 2024 de 6:00 p.m. a 8:00 p.m. en la cabaña.

Debbie McKinley
55 Court Ridge

My husband and I have lived in GHI since 2009. We very much enjoy the community spirit in GHI as well as its garden-like setting. I am currently serving on the Board of Directors as the Vice President. I am also the Chair of the Stormwater Management Subcommittee and Member Handbook and Board Policies Standardization Task Force. I also serve as the Board Liaison for the Buildings Committee.

My education and career are in environmental engineering. My focus while on the Board of Directors has been on building resiliency within GHI to climate change as well as standardizing the Member Handbook and Board policies to make them easier to use. I believe my skills and attention to detail have made me a valuable member of the Board of Directors and I would like to continue my service for another 2-year term.

I am excited by the new energy brought to the senior management team at GHI and wish to continue working in this invigorated environment. I hope you are pleased with my performance on the Board of Directors to date and will support my reelection to another term.

James Whipple
14 Court Hillside

Almost immediately after moving to GHI, I ran for the board of directors because I knew what I stand for benefits all of GHI, even Greenbelt as a whole. I knew that keeping to Greenbelt's founding values while adapting to the modern age is the right path for all of us. Those values of cooperation between neighbors and reinforcing community spirit are core to my philosophy as a member of the board of directors. Now that I've completed my first term as a board of directors, and ran for city council, I am even more informed, even more prepared, to continue the work needed to guide GHI into the future.

I grew up in Prince Georges' County, regularly came to Greenbelt in my youth, studied Engineering at the nearby University of Maryland College Park. I am fully devoted to improving our community through principles of engineering and urban development. I have participated and led volunteer efforts to build a sense of community and, more importantly, help our most vulnerable neighbors. Apart from board, I currently serve as minute taker for the Handbook Task Force and as chair of the LGAC to maintain GHI's seat at the legislative tables.

My plans are based on the urban development lessons that we can see from comparable communities worldwide, like in Europe and Japan. These lessons we can incorporate into our own community and make them full-blooded American, to make people feel connected again to their neighbors, and transform our way of life.

Candidates for GHI Election

Audit Committee

(All 3 positions up for election for 1-year terms.)

Zach Conron

65 Court Ridge

I am running for Audit Committee, because I love GHI and always feel most fulfilled in life when I am serving others. My wife Sarah and I moved to Greenbelt in 2018 because we love the close and collaborative nature of the community. We also love living next to all the things that keep Greenbelt “green”, especially the preserved woods. I have been on the Woodlands Committee for several years now focusing on invasive removal and the restoration of native ecology. I have also served for almost a year on the GHI Audit Committee where we asked questions and offered suggestions to improve or simply clarify the decisions of the Board of Directors. I believe in GHI’s mission and will continue to do my best to serve the interests of the whole membership as well as future generations in our community. Please vote for me for Audit Committee in 2024!

Stephen Holland

56 Court Ridge

I moved to Greenbelt 21 years ago and have lived in GHI for most of those years. I was attracted to GHI’s walkability, green spaces, and strong sense of community. I was also impressed by its tradition of long-term planning. Over the years, I have served on GHI’s Board of Directors and various committees and task forces. I currently serve on the Finance Committee, which has given me insight into GHI’s budget process and some of the financial challenges we will face when we replace our plumbing infrastructure during the next two decades. In the larger Greenbelt community, I was treasurer of the Greenbelt Soccer Alliance for several years and am active in local efforts to improve public transit, an essential service if GHI intends to pursue aging-in-place plans for our members. During the day, I work at NASA/Goddard as a scientist and programmer. My job involves analyzing large, complex datasets and finding practical solutions to unexpected problems. I would like the opportunity to apply these skills to help our cooperative by serving on the Audit Committee.

Bill Jones

15 Court Ridge

Bill Jones is a retired math and computer science professor. He moved to GHI with his wife Ginny in 2004. He was on the GHI Board for ten years, 2011–2021, and is currently Chair of the GHI Audit Committee. He has also served for 16 years on the GHI Finance Committee and Investment Committee. This means that he brings a lot of historical knowledge to the Audit Committee, as well as his training in Actuarial Science. His primary interest is in helping maintain the long-term financial stability of GHI, so future generations have the opportunity to live here.

He has been involved in many volunteer activities in Greenbelt, such as helping people fill out their income tax forms through VITA, tutoring first graders in reading at Greenbelt Elementary, delivering Meals On Wheels locally, and acting in plays at the Greenbelt Arts Center. Currently he is Chair of the Board of Directors of the Greenbelt Co-op Grocery and is Chair of the Membership Committee of the New Deal Cafe Co-op. He is also Treasurer of the Greenbelt Refugee Aid Committee, which brings refugee families to Greenbelt and supports them until they can become self-sufficient.

I have lived in GHI since the spring of 2001 (22 years!).

I bumped into GHI while pursuing my PhD at UMD. I came to see a movie at the theater and fell in love with the Roosevelt Center, and the layout and walkability of GHI. I knew several people that studied at UMD and lived in Old Greenbelt. My degree was in environmental sciences and sustainable development and I am now the Sustainability Coordinator for the City. I have served on the Board of Directors and the Woodlands Committee for GHI, and on the Forest Preserve Advisory Board for the City.

shootings are still unknown at this time.

Bowers spoke to gathered reporters, alongside members of law enforcement, including Prince George’s County Sheriff John Carr, U.S. Marshal for the State of Maryland Mathew Silverman and Greenbelt officials, including City Manager Josué Salmerón, Mayor Emmett Jordan and City Councilmembers Danielle McKinney, Jenni Pompei, Silke Pope and Kristen Weaver. Bowers praised the Greenbelt Police Department Criminal Investigative Unit for tireless efforts on the case over the past 10 days. He also thanked the U.S. Marshals Joint Fugitive Task Force, who made the arrests, as well as Prince George’s County Police, Maryland State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation who all cooperated to identify the alleged shooters.

The five teenagers who were wounded in the shooting have all recovered enough to be released and are now home from the hospital.

Jordan acknowledged the Greenbelt Police Department for their expert medical care helping save the lives of the victims until ambulances could arrive.

Jordan praised the law enforcement officers who sprang into action to handle the crisis and went on to ask two questions that are on the minds of Greenbelters: “What is going on with truancy in the schools? People coming together and being able to converge ... along with the county, state and nation, we’re grappling with this problem. We need to come to grips on how to deal with these large spontaneous gatherings. And what is a 14-year-old and a 16-year-old doing with a gun?” Braveboy noted that truancy levels in the county are at around 30 percent and mentioned the county’s response to truancy and working with parents, but others present noted that county school policies determine how schools and police officers can respond to truancy.

Salmerón said the city would speed up safety enhancements, including cameras and license plate readers. He spoke of safety as a community effort not solely the responsibility of law enforcement, requiring an investment in social services, too. “Remember, hurt people hurt people,” said Salmerón.

At a public safety budget worksession scheduled for Monday, April 29, council was to consider how many cameras and license plate readers might be needed in public spaces around the city. A large mobile camera trailer is currently posted near the pavilion at Schrom Hills Park. Greenbelt Police video footage from dash and body cameras is available on the police website for public viewing, but Bowers indicated that reports from witnesses were key in identifying and apprehending the suspects, whereas the camera footage highlights the speed of police response in reaching the victims and treating them for gunshot wounds.

All 53 of Greenbelt’s police officers receive emergency medical training annually on how to use Tactical Emergency Casualty Care (TECC) kits. Speedy application of trauma dressings and wound seals by officers on the scene helped save the lives of those who were shot.

Anyone with information or video of the Schrom Hills event that could aid the investigation is urged to call the police at 301-474-7200 or email CRIMETIPS@greenbeltnmd.gov.

May 15 Deadline for SHA Recreational Trails Grants

The Maryland Department of Transportation State Highway Administration (SHA) is accepting applications for two grant programs designed to expand bicycle and walking opportunities throughout the state. Applications for both the Transportation Alternatives Program and the Recreational Trails Program are being accepted through Wednesday, May 15.

Transportation Alternatives Program projects enhance mobility and accessibility including bike and pedestrian facilities, restoration of historic transportation buildings and conversion of abandoned railway corridors to pedestrian trails. The Recreational Trails Program benefits construction, enhancement, repair and maintenance of land- and water-based recreational trails and trail-related facilities for motorized and nonmotorized use.

These programs are funded by the Federal Highway Administration and awards are administered by SHA. Funding may be requested for up to 80 percent of a project’s reimbursable costs. The remaining 20 percent or more is the responsibility of the applicants to fund through a local match.

SHA has a single application for both programs, which streamlines the process and helps determine the best potential funding source for each proposal. Local governments, nonprofits, government-sponsored community groups, regional transportation or transit authorities, school districts and education agencies, natural resource or public land agencies and tribal governments are encouraged to apply.

The application deadline is 11:59 p.m. May 15. For more information on the process and eligibility criteria, visit <https://onestop.md.gov/forms/mdot-tap-rtp-fy25>.

the department’s ability to maintain continuity of services.

One major example of this is the indoor pool at the Aquatic & Fitness Center. The pool is not draining properly, according to Kim, leading to failure of the lining of the pool and deterioration of the outside wall. Kim said the department is currently doing an engineering study and the cost of the repair is not yet incorporated into the budget. The expected extended closure of the pool will also reduce pool revenues.

Other Challenges

The department also needs to invest in budget lines affecting training and education to offset the loss of institutional knowledge driven by retirements and organizational changes, Kim noted.

Increasing technology, he said, is affecting many aspects of the department’s operations from timekeeping to maintaining equipment, vehicles and tools. “To remain current and efficient, it’s essential that our workforce is equipped with the necessary expertise to adapt to these technological advancements,” he wrote.

Goals

Like most other city departments, Public Works is managing a number of American Rescue Plan Act funded projects and is working to ensure all funds are encumbered by the deadline. Other objectives include: 1) reviewing how the department is organized with the possible retirement of several “deep-rooted” employees, 2) expanding community knowledge and participation in recycling, 3) incorporating additional alternative fuel vehicles into the citywide fleet and 4) reducing fuel consumption and greenhouse gas emissions.

Sustainability

Sustainability Coordinator Luisa Robles reported that the curbside composting collection pilot is “going great.” There will be a ribbon-cutting event for the new composting facility at Trinity Church on May 3. The contractor reports that Greenbelt’s collection is the cleanest among the communities participating in the pilot with the main contaminant being glossy paper, such as popcorn bags or ice cream containers. On average, 90 percent of participants are setting out their compostables each time.

There are currently 200 participants. The city will be seeking to recruit 200 more. Once the pilot ends in about 16 months, the city will need to consider whether to offer the program as a city service and at what cost.

Robles said that the solar farm should begin operating in the last quarter of calendar 2024. The farm is in Oxon Hill near the border with the District of Columbia.

Waste Collection

Waste collection service fees and other revenue were budgeted to fall short of expenditures by $181,700 in the current fiscal year and are projected to fall short by $207,800 in FY25. This compares to a shortfall of $50,582 in FY22. Some shortfall is expected as it reflects materials discarded by the city. But Councilmember Kristen Weaver noted that the shortfall is consistently increasing and that the fees may need to go up at some point.

Connection

For the current fiscal year, the budget anticipated rider fares to cover 5 percent of the service’s cost. It is now estimated that fares will cover 4 percent. Salmerón’s FY25 budget calls for fares to cover 3.5 percent of costs. Kim said the service is generally fully booked with most riders being elderly or needing rides to medical appointments. Seniors pay $1 per ride while other riders pay $2.

Animal Shelter

The existing shelter building is over 20 years old, and Kim said it is no longer feasible to repair it. Instead he recommends replacing it using the capital projects fund.

Cherrywood

Director of Planning and Community Development Terri Hruby said that the Cherrywood Complete Streets project has been deferred until the schedule of work related to the FBI building is known.

The Greenbelt Toastmasters Club invites all to join them online every first, third and fifth Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. The club provides a fun and friendly environment for anyone interested in improving their public speaking and leadership skills. FY25 General Gov’t Budget Discussed by Council, Staff

by Diane Oberg

The General Government budget accounts for cross-departmental management functions of city government with components including city council; the city manager’s office, city clerk, diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI) staff and grants coordinator; economic development; finance; human resources (HR); information technology (IT); and public information office (PIO). The Greenbelt City Council met with City Manager Josué Salmerón and his staff on March 28 to discuss his proposed budget for fiscal year 2025 (FY25), which begins July 1.

Overview

Salmerón proposes total general fund expenditures of $5.1 million, up 4.4 percent from the current year budget ($4.9 million) – see table for details. The largest proposed change requests are HR (up 9.7 percent) and Community Promotion (up 12.33 percent). The Public Officers category (council activities funds) is unchanged. The Municipal Building account will be discussed at the worksession on the Public Works budget.

Staffing is flat with the manager’s executive assistant position deleted and a lower-graded constituent services position added, both in the city manager’s office.

Armory

One item not yet in the budget is for the Greenbelt Armory. Although the city has not yet received the deed, Salmerón noted that the city has recently started paying the utility bills. The city has requested funding from a state bond bill but also has set aside $150,000 in American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funds for a feasibility study.

ARPA Projects

Several multi-departmental efforts are underway or planned. These include managing and programming ARPA projects to ensure that all approved projects are encumbered by the federal deadline of December 2024. This became a little heavier lift as Economic Development Coordinator Kevin Simpson, who has been overseeing many of the ARPA grants, recently resigned for personal reasons.

Automation

Another major effort is to more fully automate city records. City Treasurer Bertha Gaymon reported that the finance system see if there is a way to integrate their needs into the system. HR Director Dawane Martinez says they have a vendor under review to provide an HR information system that will be able to feed information to the finance system.

City Code

The city clerk's office will spearhead an effort to assess and update the city code and charter, involving a committee of legal experts, community stakeholders and relevant departments. The goal is to "create a legal framework that promotes transparency, fairness and effective governance." Although the council budget has a metric showing no charter amendments in FY25, Salmerón says he has a draft proposal for filling council vacancies reflecting the concerns of residents, council and staff that he has not yet presented to council.

The city is reviewing a software package to improve access to the city code, in place of the current text file on the website.

Website

The city's contract with its website contractor expires in FY26. The PIO will be leading an effort to evaluate alternate vendors and assess what the city needs from its website. Salmerón noted that the current website was designed to be "our everything," including records library, streaming service and more. He suggested that this may not be the best approach. Mayor Emmett Jordan called for the website to be searchable and information easy to find.

This work will also include looking at how council provides streaming/video of its meetings. The city recently began streaming meetings on Facebook and YouTube. YouTube, in particular, may be able to replace the Granicus videos, as it does not require viewers to sign in and can provide translation and captioning.

Other Languages

Work is also underway to provide more city materials in other languages. Public Information Officer Chondria Andrews says her office is using a pool of staffers who are fluent in other languages to translate documents. Andrews reported that, at a recent Four Cities meeting, an option was presented to provide Spanish translation at $79 per hour.

Policy Review

Another cross-department project is a review of all city policies. The normal standard is that policies should be reviewed every five years and updated as needed. Salmerón noted that most of the existing HR policies date from 1972. However, with limited staff, some of this work could be slow. Martinez has already implemented a number of new policies and is working on a review of all HR policies.

Performance Measures

The budget document provides performance measures and objectives for each of the organizational units. In reviewing the measures for the city manager's office, Councilmember

Kristen Weaver, somewhat jokingly, suggested that "number of meetings held" may not be the best metric. Salmerón agreed to seek other metrics for FY26. (This same metric appears in the council budget.)

Other Goals

The budget document lays out objectives for each of its organizational units. These goals include:

- Developing a DEI program and framework and training all city staff.
- Establishing a DEI action team to address findings from the DEI audits.
- Developing records retention policies to preserve historical data and comply with legal requirements.
- Incorporating health and equity goals into grant application processes and guidelines.
- Digitizing the large volume of finance and HR records currently stored on paper.
- Continuing to press the state to provide real property and property abatement reports on a timely basis. However, the city cannot dispute abatements, Jordan said.
- Implementing business retention and expansion strategies.
- Implementing additional network security monitoring.

City Notes

Horticulture/Parks removed tree stumps for Pepco's tree plantings and installed a shade structure at Greenbelt Station. Public Works Streets crew installed three crosswalks on Springhill Lane.

Aquatic & Fitness Center staff and Public Works replaced the motor on the baby pool and prepared the outdoor pool for county inspection.

After two cat adoptions, Animal Shelter residents are 10 cats, six kittens, five dogs, a rabbit and a snake.

The Assistant City Manager and Public Information staff met with Luminis Health about American Rescue Plan Act programs. Information Technology met with Comcast to expedite service installation at Schrom Hills.

The Community Center accommodated Scouts, Concert Band, Golden Age Club, Community Orchestra, Honk! Situation, Greenwood Village, Astronomy, Unplugged and 21 rentals.

Park Rangers increased patrols in parks, anticipating Senior Skip Day situations.

The Greenbelt Assistance in Living Program's monthly produce distribution served 222 households.

Bell Time Shifts

The goal of standardizing bell times throughout the district is to improve transportation efficiency and better utilize buses and drivers by eliminating double bus trips on the same route and adding an hour between school start times to ensure safe on-time arrivals, said administrators. (The transportation audit also highlighted the potential to cut 119 vehicles and $16.9 million annually through bell time optimization.) “This action will create three standardized school start times across the district: 7:30 a.m., 8:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m.,” said Coleman. “This is vital because it will balance the number of bus trips needed on each time tier and allow us to better match the available staff with the needed bus trips.”

Yet, 90 percent of schools within the district will face either no change or a time change of 15 minutes or less, said Coleman. Among Greenbelt’s schools, Greenbelt Elementary will see the largest change, with a 45-minute shift to an earlier time. The school day will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 2:40 p.m.; Greenbelt Middle School will see a 30-minute change to start later, at 9:30 a.m.; and other Greenbelt schools will shift by 15 minutes.

Bell Time Concerns

Coleman explained longer bus routes throughout the county will be broken up. No bus driver will be driving all over the county. It frees up buses to service more than one time tier after completing their shorter first route, said Coleman.

PGCPS is predicting a shortage of drivers for next year. It’s part of a national shortage, he said. “You can either hire your way to the number of people you need or you can make the need smaller by becoming more operationally efficient. And so, we’re trying to work both sides of that aisle,” Coleman said Saturday.

Relocation of Bus Stops

Currently, 76 percent of students within the PGCPS district have a bus stop within 0.24 miles of their home, reported the Director of Transportation Keba Baldwin.

According to district policy, PGCPS allows bus stops 1.5 miles away for elementary students and 2.0 miles for middle- and high-school students.

“We propose to extend that walking distance to 0.46 miles on average,” said Baldwin. “This adjustment is anticipated to reduce ride times, improving our on-time arrival.”

Reassessment of Walk Zones

Presently, the transportation audit suggests roughly 22,000 students have a bus stop and are transported by bus within the walk zone of a school. PGCPS plans to conduct a safety audit to determine which bus stops are still needed and which can be removed, said Baldwin.

Greenbelt Councilmember (and mother of two PGCPS students) Jenni Pompi questioned how PGCPS is determining what is a safe and unsafe walking zone. Some Greenbelt students have to cross major roadways with no sidewalks to get to school.

The process of determining safe walking passages will use the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration criteria and local knowledge, said Coleman, who also noted that families can appeal determinations through the Transportation Resolution System.

Coleman highlighted that significant improvements could be made to pedestrian and traffic infrastructure and to address crossing guard shortages – cooperation from the county is needed to address these issues.

“It’s not always going to be a person that’s going to be able to man each place, but certainly, we can make investments in infrastructure to support what’s needed to provide for safe passage,” said Coleman.

Opt-out vs. Opt-in

“If you don’t need a bus, tell us,” said Baldwin.

Students who have other transportation arrangements are asked to “opt out” of bus assignments. “By prioritizing the opt-out strategies, we can detect non-riders sooner, thus avoiding redundant routing and promptly realizing advantages through decreased transportation demands among students annually,” said Baldwin.

Phased Changes

The five changes in Phase 1 will be introduced this upcoming school year.

“The prioritized recommendations that have been tagged are being carried out in a modest, not overly aggressive way,” said Baldwin. “But these shifts are still projected to provide significant improvements in their overall performance of transportation.”

Two Greenbelt Schools Are 2024 PGCPS Math Champions

by Anna Bedford-Dillow

Prince George’s County Public Schools (PGCPS) held its fourth in-person Annual Middle Grades Math Meet on April 27 at Walker Mill Middle School. There were 47 teams from 15 middle schools competing this year. Two Greenbelt teams aced their way to medals.

The annual middle school math competition was first held in April 2017, cancelled due to Covid in 2020 and 2021, and in 2022 and 2023 the competition was held online. This year it resumed in person for the first time since 2019.

Dora Kennedy French Immersion

Dora Kennedy French Immersion (DKFI) middle school mathematicians took first place among the seventh-grade teams as well as first place in the Algebra/Geometry category. They also secured second place in Accelerated Math 1. DKFI’s scholars were led by math teachers Georges Akolo and Marc Yougnia.

Greenbelt Middle School

Greenbelt Middle School (GMS) took second place among the county’s eighth-grade teams. Myrna Natividad, a mathematics teacher at GMS for 16 years and sponsor of the Math Club, coached both sixth grade and Accelerated Math 1 teams, which came in second and third place this year.

Yongsul Cho’s Accelerated Math 2 team of sixth and seventh graders also took third place. Cho has been a math teacher at GMS for five years.

GMS has taken home an award as winner or runner-up in at least one category in every year of the competition, reported Coach Natividad. “Many students realize their potential through math competitions such as this, and it brings joy to see the students get excited and have fun while learning mathematics,” she said.
